General Information for Nonresident Aliens

Social Security Taxes (FICA): Students holding an F-1 or J1 visa are exempt from FICA for the first 5 CALENDAR YEARS (CYs) they are in the U.S. A student is exempt from FICA during any term in which he/she is registered for at least half time and is regularly attending classes, regardless of resident or nonresident status. FICA must be withheld in any term the resident alien student is not registered at least half time and is not regularly attending classes, such as during the summer months. Social Security taxes are not withheld on (non-service) fellowships for F-1&* J-1 visa holders. Teachers and researchers holding a J-1 visa are exempt from FICA for either the first 2 CYs they are in the U.S. or for 2 out of the last 6 CYs in the U.S. Once a NRA becomes eligible for the SPT (page 2) and eventually meets its requirements, he/she becomes a resident alien for tax purposes and FICA withholding begins retroactive to January 1st of the CY in which the substantial presence is established. H-1 visa holders are always FICA taxable.

Social Security Number: All nonresident alien employees must have a valid Social Security Number. NRA fellows must have a SSN or an ITIN.

State of Maryland Income Taxes: NRAs pay State of Maryland Income taxes, unless they are a resident of D.C., Virginia, or Pennsylvania. There are no treaty articles exempting nonresident aliens from Maryland Income taxes.

Federal Income Taxes: Nonresident aliens may be exempt from Federal Income Taxes if they are from a country with a Tax Treaty that grants such an exemption. Tax treaties may contain exemptions that are dependent on the type of payment, type of employee, amount of payment, and/or length of stay in United States. The common types of payments are: wages or compensation, fellowships, honorariums, and Independent Contractor (I/C) fees. Wages may be paid to employees who are students, undergraduate or graduate, and researchers or teachers. Treaty articles applicable to students generally exempt only a portion of the wages (the first $2,000 to $9,000 annually depending on the country of residence) from taxation for 4 or 5 CYs. Assuming there is an applicable treaty article, all wages paid to employees whose primary function is to teach or conduct research will generally be exempt for a two or three year period. Fellowships may be paid to undergraduate or graduate students as grants-in-aid for which no services are required.

Procedures for processing honorariums and Independent Contractor fees are available from Payroll Services.
