

Bio

Stephanie Siemek is a hydrologist for the US Fish & Wildlife Service, Division of Water Resources, in the Southwest Region. She graduated from the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science in summer 2021 with a doctoral degree in Environmental Science. Stephanie's pursuance in environmental science stems from her love for animals and fascination with the natural world. She also has a master's degree in Environmental Sciences and Policy from Johns Hopkins University and a bachelor's degree in Biology from Stevenson University.